Hi Ryan-

I just spoke with a very nice woman who works for a non-profit on Treasure Island. She is working on an urban gardening project and was interested in getting more information on the site contamination in order to do some biased sampling. She needs to determine the appropriate design to grow produce (how high the beds would need to be raised, etc), which is affected by soil quality. I think the site in question (I apologize that I do not remember the exact location) was screened out during the PA/SA. She has already spoken with Jim Sullivan, but may call you to talk about the site. I let her know about the info repository on the island, so if she calls you it's probably to get some suggestions as to which document would lead her on the right path. Just wanted to give you a heads up that she may call.
